FOR GOVERNOR,
MAJ. GEN. JOHN W. GEARY,
OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

The Revenue of the Government.

From the New York Times.

From Customs duties at this port, in the past month, the National Treasury derived an income of $11,153,954, against $5,471,026 in the corresponding month of last year—showing an increase of over 100 per cent. In the nine months of the current fiscal year, from July 1, 1865, to March 31, 1866, the revenue from this source exclusively reached $101,359,975, or an average of $11,202,219 a month, against an aggregate of only $39,256,052 for the corresponding nine months of the preceding year, or a monthly average of $4,361,783. The disbursements through the United States Sub-Treasury in this city, from July 1 to March 31, on account of the coin interest on the public debt, were $52,026,730, or over sixty million dollars less than the Customs revenue of the port.—These coin-interest disbursements show an increase of $9,461,895 over those of the same nine months of 1864-5, which were $22,564,835.

The customs revenue through the out-ports in March was nearly four million dollars, making the aggregate at all ports for the month about fifteen million dollars. March closed the third quarter of the current fiscal year, commencing with July 1, 1865. The customs revenue figures for the three quarters, as already given in our financial column, are as follows:

July 1 to Sept. 30, 1865, (official)	$47,602,583
Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1865, (official)	39,216,339
January, 1866, approximate $16,750,000
February 10,250,000
March 16,000,000	43,000,000
Grand total (in gold) nine months	$134,225,921

This would give a monthly average of $14,913,991 for all the ports of the country, or equal to a yearly aggregate of nearly one hundred and seventy-nine millions of dollars, as the coin income from customs duties alone—which, at the ruling rate of gold, would represent a currency value of over two hundred and twenty-eight million dollars.

Direct and indirect taxation, in the form of internal revenue, yielded on the closing day of March $1,300,000 to the National Treasury, making the income from this source in the nine months of the current fiscal year, about two hundred and forty-four million dollars, or a monthly average of over twenty-seven million one hundred thousand dollars, equal to a yearly aggregate of more than three hundred and twenty-five million dollars. Added to the currency value of the customs duties for the year, on the basis of our estimate, this would make the grand total income of this Government, for customs and internal revenue, for the current fiscal year, equal to about five hundred and fifty-four million dollars—or, at least, two hundred million dollars more than will be absolutely required to meet all the obligations of the National Treasury maturing within the year.

The Atlantic Telegraph.

The grand project of uniting the old and new worlds by electric communication through a cable sunk in the Atlantic, though it was started ten years ago and has met with several discouraging and costly failures, and the immense capital invested has never earned a dollar, is not likely to be abandoned unless it should finally prove a scientific impossibility to work a current through so long a stretch of wire. On this point the managers of the enterprise are perfectly confident, and it is true that signals are transmitted without difficulty while the cable is coiled in the tanks and immersed in water; but only actual experiment can remove the last doubt that it will work equally well when stretched in the sea from Ireland to Newfoundland. A new cable, differing greatly from that of 1865, is now almost completed and will be laid early in July. If it succeeds, the cable laid last year will be fished up and enough of this new one spliced on to complete it.

The weight of the new cable, in water, is 1,475 pounds per nautical mile; that of last year's was 1,100. It requires to break it a strain of 16,200 pounds, that is to say it may be suspended in water eleven miles deep without parting. The breaking strain of last year's was 15,500 pounds. The deepest place to be passed over on the route is less than two and a half miles. The cable consists of seven copper wires, weighing 300 pounds to the mile, enclosed in a substance called Chatterton's compound. Over this are four layers of gutta percha alternated with four thin layers of Chatterton's compound. The weight of this insulated is 400 pounds per mile. Outside of all are ten solid iron wires (No. 13 gauge), galvanized and each wound with five strands of white manilla yarn, the whole laid spirally about the core, which is padded with jute yarn. This cable is much more flexible than the old one; and it is supposed that the galvanizing of the outside wires is a great advantage, both preserving them better from corrosion and rendering them less liable to break from tension.

Great meetings of the stockholders of the Atlantic Telegraph Company have been held recently in Liverpool and Manchester, which were addressed by Cyrus W. Field, Mr. Canning the engineer, Mr Varley the electrician and others.

New machinery has been invented for going back and taking up the cable when a fault occurs, and new contrivances to guard against accidents. There is not the slightest reason to doubt that every mechanical difficulty will be overcome finally, if it has not been already, by the ingenuity of those who are constantly at work upon it.

Mr. Varley states that new instruments have been invented and tested which will increase the rate of transmission of messages to eight times that of the ordinary Morse instrument

This enterprise has, from its inception, excited among all classes more of interest and sympathy than any mere business scheme. There is but one wish, on either side the water—that it may be speedily successful. If it proves so, in a very few years similar cables will be laid in the track of all the great steamship lines. Competition will eventually bring down the tariff of price to a scale that common people can afford, while the corresponding increase of business can scarcely fail to make them remunerative to stockholders.

Adelina Patti and Her European Engagements.

Paris (Feb. 28) Correspondence of London Star.

Patti has signed her engagement of three months with the St. Petersburgh Opera She is to have £400 per night—that is $10 000 for her three months' stay in the capital. La Diva makes on an average £25,000 per annum; au reste, here is a hereditary talent. Her mother, M'dlle Barilli, was a celebrated cantatrice; for her Donizetti wrote his "Assidio di Calais." She married at a very early age the tenor, Salvatore Patti, with whom she had sung in several lyric dramas. Four children were the result of the marriage, the eldest of whom married Maurice Strakosch, the director of the Italian Theatre at New York; Carlotta, who prefers concerts to operas; Carlo, who is in the Italian army, and Adelina, born Feb. 10, 1843.

At five years of age her mother found the child rehearsing the part of Norma, after having seen her mother act it on a stage in New York. Alboni heard of the child and went to see her. She asked her to sing. Adelina hid herself under a bed. Alboni told her she could not emerge from the retreat until she had sung an air of the "Sonnambula." Adelina executed it lying flat on the floor. Alboni released her tiny prisoner, and kissing the child said: "Tu vous feras toutes oublier." Prophetic words! The first time Adelina sang in public was in New York, at eight years old. She stood on a table in order to be seen. At the Havana her success was immense. At Port au Prince she was bitten by a scorpion, and rescued by a negress from death; she was shipwrecked on her passage thence to Santiago de Cuba, and when landed was all but killed by an earthquake

From thirteen to sixteen she gave up all regular study, and merely learnt operas by listening to her brother-in-law's performance. At seventeen she had thus acquired a perfect knowledge of nineteen operas, and made her debut in November, 1859, at New York, in "Lucia;" on the 14th of May, 1861, in London, in the "Sonnambula;" and on the 17th of November, 1862, in Paris, in the "Sonnambula." She made £2,000 out of a single concert in London, whereas Grisi never gained a higher sum than £2,400 by any single performance. Tagioni once at St. Petersburg made $8,000. Baron Rothschild, for two songs executed at his house, sent her £400 last spring. She realized from the Italian opera alone, in a single season, £24,000. La Diva has found the philosopher's stone.

—A systematic robbery of freight trains has been going on for some time past on the Illinois Central road, near Carbondale. The detectives have arrested Dr. Hedly, wife and son, and W. R. McMuir, a son-in-law. Upon searching their premises a large lot of stolen property was found.

—The Olmstead Falls (Ohio) murder case is still wrapped in mystery. Nothing has yet been seen or heard of McConnell, the missing man. The examination of the prisoners, Colvin and Miller, was concluded on Wednesday, and they were held for trial. The body of Mrs. Colvin has been buried.

—Gen. Sweeny told the Fenians at Hartford, Conn., on Tuesday night, that they should soon take Canada, ask to be recognized as belligerents, and then send out privateers to sweep British commerce from every sea. He was confident that they would dictate a peace to England on their own terms in less than a twelvemonth.

SENATOR FOOT.

The Death of a Christian Statesman.

From the Washington Chronicle, March 29.

During his last illness Senator Foot was impressed from the first with the idea that he should not recover. The conviction was so strong as to abide with him through all the changes of the disease, and against the expressed opinions and hopes of his physicians and friends. He frequently declared he should never take his seat in the Senate Chamber again; and on the last Sabbath, when there were no symptoms especially unfavorable, he informed his friends, in face of an incredulity which they scarcely took pains to conceal, that it would be the last Sabbath he should spend with them on earth. His pastor and friend, the Rev. Dr. Sunderland, was often with him, and through this source we derive the information in regard to the religious views and sentiments of the lamented Senator. His faith was that of a pious ancestry; a full and earnest acceptance of the truths of revealed religion, and of the way of salvation for mankind through the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

He had been faithfully instructed in the fundamental lessons of Christianity—the child of many prayers—and the subject of influence in early life which, however suspended amid the occupations and engrossments of an eventful private and public career, now at its close appeared to return upon him with great impressiveness. He abjured all hope of future happiness through any merit of his own, and sought that justification which is by faith alone in the Son of God, and in the atonement which He has made for the sins of men. His conversations and prayers were clear, calm, consistent, and often most subduing and awe-inspiring. On the last day of his life, having before arranged all his worldly affairs and committed his soul to the sovereign disposal of his Almighty Father and Friend, and as if forewarned by some celestial messenger, he spent the time in taking leave of those who came to enquire after him. To each one as they approached his bedside he addressed the most appropriate and affecting language, and for many absent friends he left the most tender messages. His interviews with members of the Cabinet, his fellow Senators, and others, were marked by expressions of a grateful and generous friendship, which moved all present to tears of unaffected sympathy and sorrow. As an example of the beauty and power of some of those incidents not soon to be forgotten, he said to one of his associates in Senatorial life, as he approached his outstretched hand: "My dear friend ——, whom I have regarded as the model of the statesman—to whom I have looked for counsel and guidance—the grief I now feel is only that the silver cord that has so long bound us together must be severed. But, my dear ——, if there is memory after death then my memory will be active. I shall call to mind the whole of our earthly intercourse—farewell, and may God bless you forevermore!" To this the Senator addressed was only too much moved to reply in words, but silently bent over and imprinted a kiss on the forehead and then turned away.

About two o'clock he desired the symbols of Christ's body and blood to be communicated to him, that he might join with his Christian friends then present in leaving a final, open testimony of his faith in a crucified and arisen Redeemer, and on receiving the bread into his mouth he solemnly uttered these words; "This bread is the symbol of the broken body of Christ Jesus, through whom alone I hope for the mercy of God and the gift of eternal life."

At one time, in reply to a question if the prospect of the future was bright and unclouded before him, he answered by repeating clearly and solemnly the following lines;

Jesus, the vision of thy face
Hath overpowering charms;
I shall not feel death's cold embrace
If Christ be in my arms.

Thus while ye hear my heart-strings break,
How sweet my moments roll,
A mortal paleness on my cheek
And glory in my soul.

To those of his associates whom he knew to be Christian men, and who called to exchange their farewells, he spoke with an unusual tenderness and fraternal affection; while to all he testified, in language as fitting as it was expressive, his unwavering faith in God and his belief in a future state and "the life eternal." His only regret and contrition from first to last was the common mistake and aggravation of human guilt in rejecting so long and postponing so carelessly the terms of proffered mercy declared in the Gospel of the Son of God. Thus he lingered during the day and the night without much physical suffering, down to the hour of seven o'clock yesterday morning. Then, as if he would take a last look at the sun in heaven, and of the Capitol—the scene of his labors—on which it shone, he signified that the curtains of the window might be lifted up to behold the prospect. But as his request was complied with the film of death had already covered his mortal vision, and he saw more than any earthly capitol, and more than the visible sun that had lighted up the firmament with the beams of another morning. After lying quiet for some half hour more he suddenly lifted up his hands, and, with eyes now open and full of unearthly light, exclaimed: "I see it! I see it! The gates are wide open! Beautiful! beautiful!" and almost immediately expired without a struggle or a groan. So has passed away one of the purest and the noblest of our statesmen and patriots, in this time of our country's need.

The Life of Clerks in Large Cities.

A writer in the New York Evening Post, referring to the life led by clerks in that city, says:

The great trouble appears to be this: the family and business life of merchants have been so distinct from each other, that they know but little of the habits of the clerks they employ out of business hours, except that some merchants do know that their young men are leading their country merchants to some very questionable places—treating them at the expense of the firm, and acting as drummers to secure their custom. Even where this is not the case, after a hard day's work, a young man needing some recreation, if he knows no pleasant and respectable family to visit, is very apt to be led step by step into bad company by those a little older and more experienced than himself in the mysteries of city life.

It seems that in New York, according to the statements of this letter, drinking forms a more immediate and prominent cause of ruin than one would have suspected. This writer mentions some very striking cases of his own friends: One walked overboard from the ferry boat; another slipped overboard from a steamboat on the lakes; another at length pawned his clothes for drink; one died in the workhouse, while the last cut his throat, and was laid out for identification and removal at the hospital. He himself attended no church; and did not know where to find a clergyman or religious friend. He and many others lost situation after situation, and all opportunities of rising in life, through intemperance. Where such habits as are thus described and hinted at are the order of the day, the losses of the merchants must be very great. Errors in accounts will occur, and forced balances and frauds; and even thefts will result.

A Feminine Burglar.

New York Correspondence of Philadelphia Dispatch.

But, while on the subject of woman, let me ask if you have not noticed the "female burglar" who has been distinguishing herself in this quarter? Of course you have read of such Amazons in the cheap novel department in literature, and you have imagined a stalwart lady dressed in the most fashionable manner, with a jockey hat and a rooster feather, perhaps, or black velvet sacque and elaborately trimmed petticoat, accosting you in Broadway, inviting you to a palatial mansion up Fifth avenue, and, when you are fully intoxicated with her loveliness and her Madeira, placing a pistol mouth at your sinciput and demanding your loose cash or loose existence. Well, I don't allude to any such specimen of feminine irresistability, but with the woman who actually opens locks and breaks windows to effect an entrance into a dwelling, helps herself with choice sanchaimce to everything valuable she encounters, except the gentlemen, and flies from them, like an Atalanta.

We have just such a "critter" in this city. She was pointed out to me by a detective the other day, and is really a good-looking person. Her face is prepossessing, and its expression truly modest. Her figure is light and graceful; her entire appearance is pleasing; and she is about the last person you would suspect of an impropriety. Moreover she is an exemplary creature, so far as chastity is concerned, and cannot be accused of indulging in the slightest familiarity with the opposite sex. She has a neat taste in dress, too, and costumes herself with decided comeliness, sans "all loud display" or flashy ornament. She is an incorrigible thief, and her audacity as a burglar is only accounted for by the fact that, as a woman, she can do many things without suspicion that would rivet attention on a man, and lead to placing over his movements the closest espionage. If she meets another woman in a house she has entered, she throttles her on the instant, and leaves her insensible; but she is afraid of a man. Never having been married, she has not gotten rid of her sex's natural timidity in that respect. She endeavors, therefore, to avoid the "boots and beaver" grades, and confines her depredations to localities in which they are not so likely to be encountered. She is a novelty, you may depend. Now that she is spotted, however, she will not be long out of Sing Sing.

NEW YORK MONEY AND STOCK MARKET

CINCINNATI, April 6.

Mrs. Jeff. Davis arrived here this morning from Louisville.

The bill authorizing the city of Cincinnati to purchase gas works passed both Houses of the Legislature yesterday, so amended as to require the question to be submitted to a popular vote

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.

Cotton 1c lower, depressed by Liverpool accounts. Sales 1,000 bales low middling at 34a 34 1-2c. Receipts to day 1,080. Gold 27 3-4; Francs 426 1-2; Sterling 53.

At the Methodist Conference, Bishop Janaugh presides to-day. Bishop Early will preside tomorrow.

There is additional bad news from crevasses. Heavy rains continue and the whole country is flooded.

The press argue that the President's proclamation abolishes martial law and that military occupation is removed

On account of the heavy rains the Louisiana races will be suspended till the 7th. Large stables have arrived.

There are three hundred feet of crevasse at Baton Rouge and many others are feared. Below, the whole country down to bayou, Plaquemine will be submerged. It is feared the bayou Plaquemine cannot carry off the flood and that it will extend down to bayou Lafourche, comprising the richest sugar and cotton lands in Louisiana. Crevasses are feared all over the State. The Levee Commissioners are sitting and acting promptly. Contractors and laborers on the new levee have dispersed.

Western produce is lively and taken upon arrival. Freights to New York are low, at 18 to 20 cents per sack for corn Vessels are leaving for want of better engagements.

NEW YORK, April 6.

The Claremont Hotel, on Franklin street, conducted by Mr Jones, was almost totally destroyed by fire this morning. The premises of J M Thorburn, on John street, were slightly damaged by water.

The fire on the corner of Broadway and Barclay streets, destroyed an old building formerly known as Bixby's Hotel and No. 229 Broadway, occupied by dealers in hardware, clothing cutlery, umbrellas, &c. Among the heaviest losers are L. B. Wolf & Co, $20,000, Monadic & Co, $7,000; Brown & Co, amount unascertained, and J. A. Hamilton, owner, $50,000—all fully insured in city companies The building No 229, occupied by H. J. Bang as a hotel and restaurant, was also destroyed His loss is $60,000—insured $40,000. The building was owned by Mr. Gregor and was valued at $40,000. The total loss by this fire is $200,000. The fire is supposed to have originated from a furnace in the basement. Buildings Nos. 209 and 204 Broadway are also badly damaged.

The Times' Richmond correspondent telegraphs that after consultation it has been agreed by the friends of Jeff. Davis to abandon the movement for a writ of habeas corpus for the present, because of the embarrassment it would be to President Johnson.

Governments are less active and rather weak; 7-30s are supplied slightly in excess of demands and 2d and 3d series are 1-8 lower.

Money is in active demand from the street and the rate on call is firm at 6 per cent. Recent failures have produced temporary caution respecting discounts and there is perhaps a partial contraction in the purchases of paper. Prime names are current at 7a8 per cent; good at 9a10 per cent.

Gold less active. A portion of the late short contracts appear to be unsettled, the sellers holding out in hope of a lower premium. The rate of borrowed gold is 1-8a3-32 per cent per day.

Foreign exchange is still dull. Prime bankers' 60 days sterling is offered at 106 3-8a106 1-2; francs, long date, 520a528, produce bills 105 1-2.

It appears upon further information that the firm of Beatty Bros, tea merchants, whose failure we announced yesterday, were defrauded not by a member of the firm but by a relative to whom they had made advances upon instruments which proved to have been forged. The forged documents represent about $600,000 and the advances made upon them were the cause of the failure of the firm. The liabilities will amount to about $200,000.

Gold to day has been quoted at 127 5 8, 127 1-2 a127 3-4, closing at the latter The business at the office of the Assistant Treasurer to-day was as follows: Total receipts, $134,158,499, of which $464,000 were customs, and on account of loan $20,000; coin certificates $209,820, payment $56,837,551; balance $33,032,000 32.

WASHINGTON, April 6.

President Johnson has sent a message to Congress recommending a modification of the test oath passed in 1862.

The Senate galleries are again densely filled to-day to witness the proceedings on the message of the President vetoing the Civil Rights bill.

Senator Wright, of N J, appeared and took his seat in the Senate this forenoon Senator Dixon, of Conn., at 1:30 o'clock, had not arrived.

NEW YORK, April 6

Among the losers by the Fulton street fire were Geo. Richmond, boots and shoes, $30,000—half insured; W. J. Sharp, billiard table maker, $25,000—partially insured; Wm. H. Griffith, billiard table maker, $25,000—partly insured. These parties occupied stores Nos. 146, 148 and 150 Fulton street. The building No. 202 Broadway was also destroyed, occupied by Knapp & Sheffen, clothiers, Sherman and others. The Claremount House in Fulton street, as before stated, was destroyed—total loss $500,000.

The loss by the Barclay street fire is estimated at $300,000, and may exceed it. Hatfield, tailor, loses $75,000—supposed insured

A woman is missing, and it is supposed lost her life. An old man named Steinback was found in one building almost dead and removed to the hospital.

There were other fires further up town this morning, but of no particular consequence.

DETROIT, April 6

Governor Crapo has by proclamation appointed the 19th day of April as a day for fasting, humiliation and prayer. After attending to the defeat of armed rebellion, the antagonism betwen the ruling powers at Washington and apprehension for the safety of the Government, the Governor says: "Let us seek divine aid to reconstruct the republic upon the broad principles of right, humanity, justice and eternal truth, when all men irrespective of caste or color shall be equal in the eye of the law."

NEW YORK, April 6.

The servant girls who were employed in Bangs' restaurant, destroyed by fire this morning, were taken by the police and placed into custody. They are detained by request of the Fire Marshal.

WASHINGTON, April 6.

Senator Lane, of Kansas, about whom some doubts have existed as to his vote on the Civil Rights bill, made a speech in the Senate to day supporting the veto of the President and defending the President from the charges made against him by Senator Wade, of despotism, dictatorship and treachery.

There are many members of the House of Representatives on the floor of the Senate, and these, with those who will fill the galleries, are apparently most intensely interested in the proceedings.

NEW YORK, April 6.

The stock market exhibits an increase of speculative activity. The corner on Michigan Southern appears to have closed. The difference between cash and regular stock is only one-half per cent. The transactions in stock at the Board were nominal, the price closing at 8 1-2.

A report is current on the street that Mr. Drew, who is understood to have been largely short on the stock, yesterday presented $2,000,000 of the convertable bonds of the Michigan Southern Road for conversion into stock and that the officers of the Company declined to issue the stock in exchange. We find, however, that nothing whatever is known of such a proposal at the office of the Michigan Southern Company.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh appears to be the next to be cornered. At the Board 42,000 shares of the stock were bought at 70 3-4a80. Erie is also active and firmer, the transactions amounting to 6,800 shares at 74 5 8a75. Reading is abundant and active. Fort Wayne shows symptoms of clique action, price being 1 7-8 higher.—Rock Island advanced 2.

ALBANY, April 6.

The bank panic at Rochester continues. A. Karnes, a private banker of that city, who was not doing a large business in deposits, suspended to-day for want of currency. His friends are confident that he will resume soon.

A run has been made all day upon Powers, banking concern, but has made no impression.—He has stacks of money and will keep open until 9 o'clock to-night and resume at 6 to-morrow, to satisfy timid people. Good business men deposit with him freely to-day. The panic is regarded as s silly one by men best informed in monetary affairs.

XXXIXth Congress—First Session.

SENATE—April 6.

Mr. Morgan presented the petition of the New York Savings Banks, asking for such a modification of the revenue laws as will exempt the savings of the poor from taxation. The petition was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Several petitions for equal and just laws to regulate inter-State insurance were presented and referred to the Committee on Commerce

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, offered a joint resolution for admission of the States lately in rebellion to representation in Congress, on condition of their repudiating the rebel debt, endorsing the Federal debt, annulling all ordinances of secession and granting the right of suffrage to such colored people as can read or who own and pay taxes on $250 worth of property. Mr. Lane spoke of the necessity for immediate action on the subject of reconstruction to save the Republican party from crumbling to pieces The resolution was ordered to lie upon the table for the present

At one o'clock the message of the President vetoing the Civil Rights bill was taken up.

An old man sat in his chair one day,
And sadly mused on life's decay,
For his thin and scattered locks were gray
With time and sorrow's changing sway,
And his life declined as the setting sun

He had dug for gold on the western hill,
He had dug for oil at Titusville,
'Till the wealth of each his purse did fill,
But his hair was growing gray er still,
And the sands of life seemed almost run.

The old man sits in his chair to day,
But the aged look has passed away,
And his tresses, once so thin and gray,
A dark luxuriance now display—
He used the "MARTHA WASHINGTON!"

SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.

A Mass Convention of the Soldiers of Crawford county will be held at

RICHMOND'S MUSEUM HALL,

in the CITY OF MEADVILLE, on

Monday, April 9, 1866, at 2 P. M.,

Being the Anniversary of the Surrender of Lee, for the purpose of forming a

SOLDIERS' ASSOCIATION,

and to take such measures as will tend to bind in a closer union those who have during the war shared the privations and dangers of the camp and field.

The following distinguished military leaders have been invited to be present and address the Convention:

Major-General ARMORY E. BURNSIDE
Major-General JAMES B. STEEDMAN, of Ohio
Major General JOSEPH J. BARTLETT, of New York.
Brigadier General JAMES W. FISHER, of Columbia, Pa.

All who have faithfully served their country in the field are earnestly requested to be present and take part in the proceedings without distinction to party. The organization has no political objects in view, its design being solely to keep alive the recollections and friendships of the years spent upon the "tented field" during the bloody struggle for the maintenance of the Government of our Fathers.

Our Soldier Friends of the counties of Erie, Warren, Mercer and Venango, are also cordially invited to be present and meet with us.

Every man attending the Convention is requested to wear the Badge of the Army Corps in which he served.

A fine Band of Music has been engaged for the occasion.

By order of the Executive Committee

The Mayor and the Common Council.

We are in receipt of a communication which was evidently designed to create an issue between Mayor Angier and the Common Council. The gentleman who presented it was particularly desirous for its publication, and while acceding to his request, in part, we avail ourselves of the privilege of commenting briefly upon it. The writer says:

By the seventh section of the City Charter, it is declared that "all ordinances ordained and passed by a majority of the Council shall be presented to the Mayor for his approval, and if approved by him, shall become a law."—Now in view of this plain statute, what right had the Town Council to publish in your paper of Thursday an ordinance, excellent in its purports and designs, but one which had never been submitted to the Mayor for his approval? In their excessive zeal for the public welfare have they forgotten the principles of common politeness and respect? It would really appear, from the undue haste with which their business is transacted, as if they were anxious to effect changes which may tend to advance their own private ends, or those of their friends.

We published the Health Ordinance referred to, not because the Council voted for its publication, but as a matter of special interest and importance to the community at large. It was not published officially, but as a part of the proceedings of the Common Council. It is customary for all live newspapers to keep the public advised of whatever concerns their own interests; and we are not aware that any one ever before complained because the readers of the HERALD were furnished with an instalment of local news in advance of its official publication. We confess ourselves unable to see how any law has been violated, or anybody's rights infringed by a newspaper report of the proceedings of a public body! Had we deferred the publication of the ordinance till it had received the signature of the Mayor it would not yet have appeared in print; notwithstanding the fact that it was duly presented for his approval on Thursday last. As the matter now stands it is probable the ordinance will be returned to the Council, and in whatever shape it may then be passed, another ten days must elapse after its approval, before it can be enforced; for the Charter explicitly provides that every ordinance shall be published ten days before it shall go into effect. This will bring us to the 19th of April—a period at which in nearly all cities and towns this year the purging process will have been fully completed. Here it has not yet commenced.

Our correspondent characterizes the action of the Council as showing an "excessive zeal for the public welfare," and intimates that they are wanting in "common politeness and respect" to the Mayor. Such charges can scarcely be sustained in view of the fact that the Mayor himself recommended the adoption of the very ordinance in question, as is shown by the following quotation from his inaugural:

In view of the fearful scourge which during the past summer and autumn has swept across two continents, suddenly hurrying into eternity almost the entire populations of districts, towns and cities, and which with gigantic strides has crossed the broad Atlantic and is even now upon our shores, I would again call your immediate attention to the positive need of proper drainage, and I would earnestly solicit your prompt action in adopting such measures as shall tend to improve the sanitary condition of the city. The custom of depositing quantities of garbage and decaying matter in the streets, as well as in private premises, should, by ordinance be prohibited. The surest safety of all communities from the ravages of the dreaded pestilence is in positive cleanliness. All decaying matter, either animal or vegetable, should be immediately gathered up and removed.

It was in conformity with this correct representation of the public sentiment, that the Health Ordinance was introduced at the first regular meeting of the Council. It was unanimously adopted by the Board, and it is for the public to judge whether an ordinance so imperatively demanded should not have been promptly approved. For as we understand the Charter, while it is the privilege of the Mayor to recommend, it is the duty of the Council to legislate. Whatever the defects of the ordinance, they could be easily remedied by a supplementary act. Time, in this connection, is of the utmost importance, and every unnecessary delay is full of peril to the public health.

It may be said that we have a borough ordinance of a similar character, and that the Charter provides that all borough ordinances shall remain in force until "altered, repealed or superseded by ordinances of the Council." But an examination will show that the borough ordinance cannot be enforced without amendment, for its execution devolved upon the High Constable, and there is no longer such an officer in existence. To be operative, therefore, it must be amended, which is equivalent to passing a new ordinance.

The remainder of the communication from which we have quoted, is devoted to a criticism upon certain appointments of the Board, and contains imputations of a libelous character, which we decline to publish. It is impossible, of course, to give universal satisfaction in the distribution of offices, for which there are many rival candidates. However, we do not propose to vindicate the motives of the Board. Such aspersions are too common and too transparent to be worthy of special comment.

SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.—Pursuant to a call published in the MORNING HERALD of the 5th inst., a meeting of soldiers was held at the Board of Trade Rooms last evening, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the Soldiers' Convention to be held at Meadville on the 9th inst.

The meeting having been called to order, Col. J. H. Cogswell was elected Chairman, and Major E. W. Mathews, Secretary. Col. Cogswell stated the object of the meeting and recommended that a delegation to the Meadville Convention be appointed, and that measures be taken for a permanent organization, either independent in its character, or auxiliary to that which is to be formed at Meadville. These sentiments were approved by Captain Dillingham, Chaplain Taylor, Captain Wrigley and others; and on motion of Capt. Dillingham, a delegation was appointed, but all action towards a permanent organization was deferred until Monday evening, April 16th, to which time the meeting was finally adjourned after instructing the Secretary to publish a call for such adjourned meeting, in the columns of THE HERALD.

The names of the delegation to attend the Convention at Meadville are as follows:

Col. J. H. Cogswell, Maj. E. W. Mathews, Chaplain W. H. Taylor, Capt. J. G. Cramer, Capt. John Dillingham, Capt. William Wrigley and Surgeon Thos. Young.

MAJOR GENERAL A. E. BURNSIDE, President of the Reno & Pithole Railroad, has been elected Governor of Rhode Island by an overwhelming majority.

Suspension of Ward & Bros., Rochester, New York.

Ward & Bros., a prominent banking firm of Rochester, N. Y., have suspended. Their deposits exceed, it is said, one million dollars. Their depositors number over three thousand the large amount is consequently distributed in small sums, and there are few heavy losers. A considerable part of their assets consists of real estate, which cannot be converted into cash at a moment's notice. The other banks would have come to their assistance and carried them through, had the embarrassed firm held Government or other securities, which could have been readily converted. The firm have made an assignment and say they can pay ninety per cent upon all deposits if permitted to manage the conversion of their assets. Their card sets forth that securities deposited with them for safe keeping are in their vaults and will be returned to their owners. In their assignment, charitable societies and orphan asylums are preferred, and other depositors are to be paid without distinction.

The Suspended Banks.

Thompson's Bank Note Reporter reports the condition of the suspended banks as follows:

Oil City Bank, at Oil City. This bank is a State institution, with a circulation of some $260,000, not secured by any bonds. We believe the circulating notes of this bank have only a nominal value.

Bank of Crawford County, at Meadville. This is a State bank, with about $350,000 circulation, not secured. It had filed the preliminary papers to reorganize as a National bank—had deposited some bonds in Washington—but has never received any National Currency. Our impression is that the "Bank of Crawford Co." is not as bad a failure as the "Oil City Bank."

Venango Bank, at Franklin. This is a free State Bank converted into a National. The old circulation is about $130,000, secured by 7-30 Treasury Notes deposited at Harrisburg, and $50,000 National Currency, secured by deposits in Washington. We believe that the old circulation will be taken up at its face, after some delay, probably at Pittsburgh. For the present we quote it at 10c discount. The $50,000 National Currency will suffer no discredit.

Petroleum Bank, at Titusville. This is a free State Bank, circulation some $200,000, secured by 7-30 Treasury Notes deposited at Harrisburg. Its notes, we believe, will be taken up at their face, at Pittsburgh, after some delay. We quote them 10c discount. This bank had filed its papers to reorganize as a National Bank.

Culver, Penn & Co. owned but a small portion of the stock of the First National Bank at Titusville, but its New York account was with that house. In the uncertainty of the moment it suspended. It will resume business on a solid basis. The losses are not sufficient to impair its solvency. Its managers are of a sound and solid class of local citizens. Its drafts on Culver, Penn & Co. are cashed by the First National Bank of this city.

These are all the banks that are directly hurt by the failure of Culver, Penn & Co. Other banks have been placed in the broken lists published in the newspapers. The Cashier of the Bank of Lawrence County writes us that his bank had no business with Culver, Penn & Co., and no loss whatever will be sustained in consequence of the failure.

LIST REPEATED.

Oil City Bank, Oil City, Penn., 75 per cent. discount.

Bank of Crawford County, Penn., 62 per cent. discount.

Venango Bank, Franklin, Penn., 10 per cent. discount.

Petroleum Bank, Titusville, Penn., 10 per cent. discount.

All National Currency, broken or not, par.

A Card.

The First National Bank of this place will resume operation on Monday, 9th inst., the loss sustained by the Bank having been made good by the stockholders.

Thanking the friends of the Bank for their kindly consideration during its suspension we trust that upon resuming business we shall receive their patronage.

Mr. R. D. Fletcher having taken an interest in the Bank, will take the position of Cashier, with Mr. C. C. Dudfield as Assistant Cashier.

J. T. BRIGGS, President.

REMARKS.—The announcement that the First National Bank will resume business on Monday next will be received with a lively sense of relief and satisfaction by our business classes and the public generally.

Through the fault of Culver, Penn & Co. they were compelled to suspend; but the embarrassment was only temporary, and the promptness with which the stockholders came forward and assumed the loss is no less honorable to them than justly due to the depositors and customers generally. The solvency and credit of this institution thus assured and re-established, it will again command the public confidence. The appointment of Mr. Fletcher is a popular one, and will give general satisfaction.

First National Bank at Corry.

We cheerfully give place to the following communication, although we have stated the substance of it before.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF CORRY,
Corry, Pa., April 5th 1866.

Editors Morning Herald:

As the publication of the enclosed article (of the date of the 4th inst.) did us some considerable injury and as it was without foundation (excepting the fact that Mr. Culver was at one time interested in the bank,) Will you be kind enough to state in your paper that we are not at all affected in the failure of Culver, Penn & Co.

Yours truly,
N. W. HECKER.

The Petroleum Bank.

TITUSVILLE, April 6, 1866.

Editor Morning Herald:

Why don't the officers of the Petroleum Bank publish an exhibit of the present condition of their affairs? The creditors of that institution have a right to ask for a statement of its assets and liabilities.

How much does Mr. Culver owe the bank? It is all very well for the officers of the bank to say that all will yet be well, but its creditors are becoming intensely anxious to know on what evidence assurances so freely and so confidently given, are based?

Means officers of the Petroleum Bank, will you answer?

CREDITOR.

ITEMS FROM PETROLEUM CENTRE.—The Central Petrolum Company are laying pipes for the conducting of oil from the various wells on their farm to Oil Creek. We believe the producing wells number fifty or sixty, averaging 40 or 50 barrels a day each; fourteen of the wells are owned exclusively by this Company, the rest being leased and paying a royalty of one-half the oil.

There was a new well struck on the 3d inst. on the farm, which promises to be an excellent one.

The Company are about putting up a large iron tank of the capacity of ten thousand barrels, to be located on the bank of the creek for the reception of oil from the pipes. It is all of iron, and was manufactured in Pittsburgh. It has been demonstrated that this kind of tank is fireproof. At the conflagration at the Bennehoff Run, two months since, the iron tank full of oil escaped uninjured, although surrounded on all sides by the flames.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. Wm. Boughton is the enterprizing station agent of the O. C. R. R., is constructing a sidewalk on Washington street, between the railroad track and West Mechanic street, at his own expense. This is a valuable improvement to this portion of the street, which in muddy weather is absolutely impassible for pedestrians. It is to be hoped that others may follow his example.

THE amount of cash contributed at the Fenian Mass Meeting, in Buffalo, on Tuesday night, is stated to be $2,000. The leaders of the Brotherhood pledge Buffalo for $1,000, to aid General Sweeny in the liberation of Ireland.

AN adjourned meeting of the Common Council will be held this evening at City Hall.

Estimate of Losses by Fire on the Hyde and Egbert Farm, March 31, 1866.

We are indebted to Mr. W. C. Hyde, of Hydetown, for the following official estimate of the losses on the Hyde and Egbert Farm by the fire of the 31st ult. We have seen other estimates in our exchanges, but they are widely different from the one herewith presented:

35 derricks and engine houses, at $500	$17,500
21 engines, at $1,350	28,350
25 small tanks, 7,000 bbls. capacity, at 65c	4,550
30 large tanks, 30,000 capacity, at 65c	21,000
Shedding for same	5,000
Total	$77,000
25,000 barrels of oil, at $3 75	$93,750
Damage to bridge	500
Damage to toll house	500
Charles Hyde's office	400
Sundry houses, offices, &c	2,500
Pipe to convey oil to bank, &c	1,900
Total	$89,150
Grand total loss	$166,150

The following is the estimate of the loss of the Maple Shade, Chas. Hyde and Coquette Interest:

3 engines, at $1,350	$4,050
4 derricks and houses, at $500	2,000
13 tanks, 15,000 bbls. capacity, at 60c	9,000
2 small tanks, 300 bbls capacity, at 75c	225

Total	$20,544
Less tax	4,542
Total	$16,002

City Finance.

Editors Morning Herald:

Get money, honestly if you can, but—get money, was the advice given by a man of the world to his affectionate son, and "get money" is really the real business of our City Council, for they may rest assured the executive officers they have appointed will spend it. Allow me to suggest how they may attain this desirable end, honestly, and I think, in short metre. By section five, certificates may be issued, signed by the Mayor, and attested by the President of the Council, bearing interest at six per cent. per annum. Let these certificates be issued in sums of five, ten and fifty dollars, in anticipation of the first six months taxes, and redeemable in six months, but only carrying interest for six months. Make no payments with these certificates, but first dispose of them for legal tender, and then spend the legal tender. This system, strictly adhered to, will keep them at par, and they will then serve as a valuable savings bank to the working classes. By first insisting on their being converted into legal tender, or national currency, they will only be absorbed in proportion to the surplus floating capital in the community, and will accurately gauge the amount of expenditure we may safely incur. When our tradesmen and merchants know that greenbacks have first been paid for them, they will unhesitatingly pass as currency, and when the community cease to apply for them, it will be only from one of the following causes:

1st. The surplus capital of the town is exhausted, or,

2d. Loss of confidence in their value.

Either of these causes will admonish our City Fathers to diminish expenditure, and I can conceive no more sensitive test of public feeling, than the demand for these certificates. If active, it will mark the approval of the action of the Council in the improvements they undertake; if demand ceases, it will indicate expenditure should be arrested, because the community have not the spare funds to incur it, or else they disapprove of the improvements being carried out. It will at any rate enable our Council to "get money." Our contractors and employers can then work with a will, because they will be paid, not with a certificate, but with legal tender or national currency, whenever their claims are due, instead of the miserable over-head-and-ears-in-debt system in which we have hitherto been drifting about. But above all let us have a full statement of our present position, taxes uncollected, debts owing, without one hour's necessary delay. It will startle us no doubt, but it would be manifestly unfair the new regime should be blamed for the position—former management or mismanagement has brought us into. Wherever there is delay in producing accounts, there must have been want of order, and no official should allow this suspicion to be directed against him by neglecting to hand in his accounts.

There will be a want of money, (there is great need of immediate outlay to prevent disease, and of good roads in our main streets,) if our City Council will but prove their determination to do what is right, unmindful of private interests, but sincerely intent on the public good.

M.

A Novelty in Oil Mining.

A practical miner, by name James Shearton, an operator in English coal mines for several years, but now a resident of Oil Springs, Canada West, asserts that he can put down a shaft three feet in diameter, with but little more trouble than is now experienced in drilling a hole of the diameter of six inches. And this he would be willing to undertake to the depth of two hundred and fifty feet. His plan is, briefly, to sink the surface hole to the rock with a diameter of eight feet. Here the opening in the rock is commenced with a drill to a diameter of twelve inches, and is carried down ten feet, when a new process, called "forcing off," is applied until the hole is made the required size. This new method is operated by drilling a series of small holes at a given distance from the main opening, or according to the hardness and compactness of the rock, and charging them with nitroglycerine capsules for blasting. There is but little danger of igniting the gases in the well by this process, as the tamping of the blast is so arranged as to extinguish the flame arising at the moment of ignition. The debris is taken out by grabs, and the hole cleared of offensive atmosphere by a blower worked from the surface. So the process is continued until the whole is completed. The greatest of all impediments in a work of such magnitude is water. But this does not appear to dishearten Mr. Shearton in the least. By a series of centrifugal pumps he claims to be able to overcome any flood; but the question presents itself, will there be room enough in the hole for the elevations and working of the rods of the pump, and how is the water to be subdued while the pumping is suspended to permit the blasting? However, these do not seem to be insuperable to the miner. A shaft of this size on good yielding territory would overshadow any producing well now in operation in any region. It may not be impossible to mine it. We advise Mr. Shearton to pack his carpet-sack and bring on his estimates. If his plans are practicable he can find profitable employment in this section.

THE Council of Titusville have chosen F. B. Guthrie, Esq., formerly of Warren, City Attorney for the ensuing year. Mr. Guthrie is senior member of the firm of Guthrie & Ewing, and one of the ablest young lawyers in Northwestern Pennsylvania. We congratulate him upon his success, and the city fathers of Titusville upon the soundness of their judgment.—Erie Observer.

The talented and genial editor of the Observer made his first visit to Titusville a few days since. We regret that he had not leisure for an extended tour of observation through the oil regions, for his editorial notes would have had a richness and variety not often surpassed.

PERSONAL.—Our esteemed correspondent, C. L. Harris, Esq., of Petroleum Centre, will start next week for the gold fields of Montana. He has been a regular contributor to the columns of the HERALD for many months past, and while he has fully supplied the want of an intelligent and reliable correspondent at the centre of the oil producing region, his letters have been widely copied. We sincerely regret his departure, and trust that his future enterprises will fully reward his expectations.

In the case of J. B. Robinson, who prosecuted G. Mosier, Esq., of Meadville, for forgery, and utterly failed to substantiate the charge, Mr. Mosier has brought an action for perjury, and Mr. Robinson has been indicted by the Grand Jury.

Universalist Church.

The Universalist Society and congregation will hereafter meet for worship in the new church, at the corner of Main and Perry street, instead of at Crittenden Hall, as heretofore. The church edifice is not yet fully completed, but sufficiently for the comfort and convenience of the congregation. The hours of service will be 10½ A. M. and 4 P. M. Rev. C. L. Shipman is the regular pastor.

The dedicatory services of the church will be deferred till the entire completion of the edifice, of which due announcement will be given.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY ELECTION.—The annual election of the Crawford County Central Agricultural Society took place on Tuesday, at Meadville, and resulted as follows:

President—D. M. Bole.
Vice President—W. H. Smith.
Executive Committee—J. L. Beatty, S. E. Ellis, J. Cowan, John Mahoney, W. Watson, F. W. Huldekoper, I. Powell, Jas. McClure, A. Gibson, S. B. Dick.
Secretary—H. L. Richmond, Jr.
Corresponding Secretary—Harvey Henderson.
Treasurer—A. F. Stuart.

THE FINANCIAL CONFERENCE.—The Meadville Republican of Wednesday, says:

Hon. C. V. Culver, and Messrs. L. H. Culver and John R. Penn, of the firm of Culver, Penn & Co., are in town to attend the meeting of their creditors to be held to-morrow. Mr. Wm. Brough, one of the assignees, is also here, and Major Wilson, Superintendent of the Reno, Oil Creek & Pithole Railroad. A large number of prominent gentlemen connected with the financial affairs in this region and elsewhere are expected here to-night.

AUCTION SALE.—Auctioneer Reynolds will sell to-day, several spans of horses, and lot of harnesses, wagons, household goods, groceries, &c., &c. It will be a rare chance for good bargains.

Mr. Reynolds will also sell at 1½ P. M. the Bowling Saloon building (and contents), opposite the Merchants' Hotel, on Spring street.

Mr. Reynolds will also sell a fine horse, buggy and harness at the same hour.

THE first ball of Citizen Fire Company No. 2, came off last evening at Crittenden Hall. It was largely attended; the music was furnished by J. Henri Burch, the room was finely decorated and the affair was a very pleasant one.

A RUMOR was in circulation last evening of an extensive fire on Stevenson Farm. We learn that nothing was destroyed but an engine house.

HESTER CLYMER, Senator from Berks county, and the Democratic candidate for Governor, resigned his seat in the Senate on Saturday last.

JUST THE WEATHER FOR YOUNG DUCKS but very bad for consumptives and people predisposed to pulmonary weakness. To all such the spring season is very trying, and great care should be taken to keep the body dry and warm, and all irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes allayed at once. The soothing properties of Coe's Cough Balsam render it the consumptive's best friend, while all recent cases very readily yield to its curative power. It is pleasant, safe, sure and cheap. R. C. Clark & Co., Titusville, Pa., agents.

A SURE TEST—After all, success is the best test of merit. In nine cases out of ten the race is won by those who deserve to win it. The energetic man prospers; the worthy flourish; only the idle and the worthless fail. Consequently, if we find an article in general demand, it is a prima facie evidence that the article has qualities which justly render it popular. Such is pre-eminently the case in the celebrated preparation known throughout the world as HUBBEL'S GOLDEN BITTERS. Go where you will, you will find Hubbel before you, with his elegant bottles, containing one of the most healthful beverages ever offered to the public—vegetable in its nature, wholly innoxious, and certainly beneficial. In this case, truly success is a test of merit.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK April 3.

Money is more active, but there is a good supply at 6 per cent., and some loans at 5 are left undisturbed. In commercial paper no changes. A few names pass at 7 per cent., but the bulk of sales are at 8@9, and 10@15 per cent.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

TITUSVILLE, April 6.

The petroleum markets remain unchanged from our yesterday's quotations:

The present daily production of the whole oil region does not exceed 9,000 barrels per day, or 3,285,000 barrels per year. Allowing 25 per cent. for wastage by fire, transportation and other causes, and 25 per cent lost in refining, this would leave 1,642,500 barrels. Add to this the surplus left over last year which was about 250,000 barrels, it would make 1,892,500 barrels. Judging from the export and home consumption of last year, we may suppose the exports of this year to be 700,000 barrels, which, added to the home consumption of 800,000 barrels, would make 1,500,000 barrels, deduct this from the whole production of 1,892,500, and it will leave a balance at the end of the year of 392,500 barrels, or a monthly surplus of 32,708 barrels.

It may be argued that the reason the home consumption will not be much in excess of last year is on account of the reduction in the price of coal, and consequently of gas, thereby bringing that article into more violent competition with oil than it has been during the war. Also that the exports will not be much greater, from the fact that shale oil is being absorbed by the foreign markets in a much larger ratio than petroleum. On the other hand it may be argued that even although the price of gas is so much lower than it has been for the past four years, that the price of oil has come down in proportion, and that it will continue to find its way into the remotest corners of the South. And again with regard to the export, that the shipments this year, and consequently the foreign demand, has, up to this time, been four times what it was during the same time last year, which looks as if rock oil was preferred, even at higher prices, than the shale oil, and that it must be finding its way into dense populations hitherto ignorant of the superiority of our article. These arguments may be used on either side of the question to suit the "bulls" or the "bears," and it resolves itself into a mere matter of opinion, as a man who is holding oil on speculation will naturally believe that there is going to be a greater demand than the supply will admit, while the man who has to use the crude to keep up his refinery is generally very doubtful about the demand and very much alarmed at every new increase of production.—The man who holds oil for a rise is a mere speculator, and if he loses money it goes to benefit the community; on the other hand, if our refineries lose money it is a serious injury to the community as preventing others going into the business. The further development of the oil producing territory is in a great measure dependent upon the prices which are paid for oil at the wells, and in order to enable them to obtain the highest figures which the demand will afford, it is necessary to reduce the business to a more regular and systematic standard than has heretofore been the case. Speculators are never of any benefit to large articles of commerce as they buy at the expense of the producer, and pocket the results of his labor and capital, and the only way to give the producer the same advantage as the speculators is to put them in possession of the same information upon which these speculations are based, and in order to protect the refiners and the regular merchants in the article, it is necessary that oil should be sold low enough to admit of a sufficient margin being made on actual orders upon which nearly all their purchasers are based. It has been the cause of a good deal of trouble to the shippers of that article as well as of loss to the producers themselves, that whenever there is a better feeling in the eastern markets the price of oil is raised at the wells to untangable figures; after a few days this produces a reduction and they do not get as much for their oil as they might have done had they only raised the price to correspond with the advance of the other markets.

The following is the weekly report of the New York petroleum market, from J. A. Bostwick, Commission Merchant, Nos. 40 and 42 Broadway, and 53 New street.

NEW YORK, April 4.

Referring you to the annexed report of our petroleum market, for the week ending this day, I would remark: There is an improved feeling and prices are higher especially for future delivery. The following are fair quotations for the present market, and I would say that the late foreign news, quoting 2s 1d to 2s 2d with the strengthening of gold, gives our market great firmness:

Morning Herald.

[illegible] for Oil Creek.

Has anybody heard the bell?
I am late!—dear me, I know full well
I'm never dress in time—
But there's none, none help me, Lucy,
To make my toilet very spruce—
This one is quite sublime!

Here, lace this gaiter for me, do;
"A hole!" you say? Plague take the shoe!
Please, Lucy, try and hide it—
Just think, it's Sunday, and, my soul,
I cannot wear it with a hole!
The man will surely spy it.

They're always peeping at our feet,
Why, be sure, they needn't peep,
The way we hold our dresses;)
I'll disappoint them, though to-day!
And cross myself," pray did you say?
Don't laugh at my distresses!

How, Lucy, pray, that my waterfall,
Do you think it large? Ain't it too small?
When heather these things give.
My sets and mice, do they sit straight?
Please, hurry, Lucy, I know I'm late—
There's Willie, as I live.

How splendidly the silk will rustle!
(Please hand my "self-adjusting bustle,"
My corsets and my hoop.)
There now, I'll take five skirts or six—
Do hurry, Lucy, and help me fix,
You know I cannot stoop!

How shall I say my prayers to-day?
As if girls went to church to pray!
How can you be so foolish!
Here, damp this ribbon in cologne;
What for?" to paint, you silly one;
Now, Lucy, don't be mulish.

Now, then, my hat—how he abhors
This thing—as big as all out doors—
The frightful sugar scoop!
Thank heaven, my cloak is handsome, too,
It cost us enough to be I know—
(Straighten this horrid hoop!)

My handkerchief and gloves you'll find
Just in the drawer, Lucy, are you blind?
(Does my dress trail?)
Its all the fashion now, you know;
(Pray does the paint and powder show
Through my loose veil?)

Thank you, my dear, I believe I'm dressed;
The minister be praised! the day of rest,
Comes only once in seven,
I hope he will not take what she,
The Deuce! I should have to fix,
I'd never get to heaven.

TO OIL MEN.

CARVER'S
DOUBLE ACTING
OIL PUMP.
This pump consists of two barrels, one within the other, and each having its separate valves and acting independently of the other. The action is DOUBLE,
and as much oil is raised at the DOWNWARD
as at the
UPWARD STROKE.
THE DOUBLE SET OF VALVES
allows the FREE ESCAPE of gas through one or the other of the barrels, without affecting the pumping and thus enables the pump to work without obstruction in wells where the common pump cannot be worked at all.
AN IMPROVED PISTON
of double the strength of the old one has been invented which will be supplied FREE to all parties using the old sliding valve in these pumps. These pumps have now been used on over one hundred wells, and we give below a few of the certificates we have received, and ask a careful perusal of the same. For sale by
